Fairview Residential Reentry Center (RRC) is a women's residential reentry center, also known as a halfway house, owned and operated by Reynolds and Associates for more than 20 years in Northeast DC. Fairview RRC houses or maintains custody¹ of female inmates who are generally within 18 months of release. The current contact information for the facility is listed above.

¹ Some women are serving their halfway house time under home confinement, and must abide by the check-in protocols required by the facility.
